Why Belief in Energy, Matter, Time, and Space Alone Is Not Enough to Explain the Universe

Democritus
460-370
Atoms

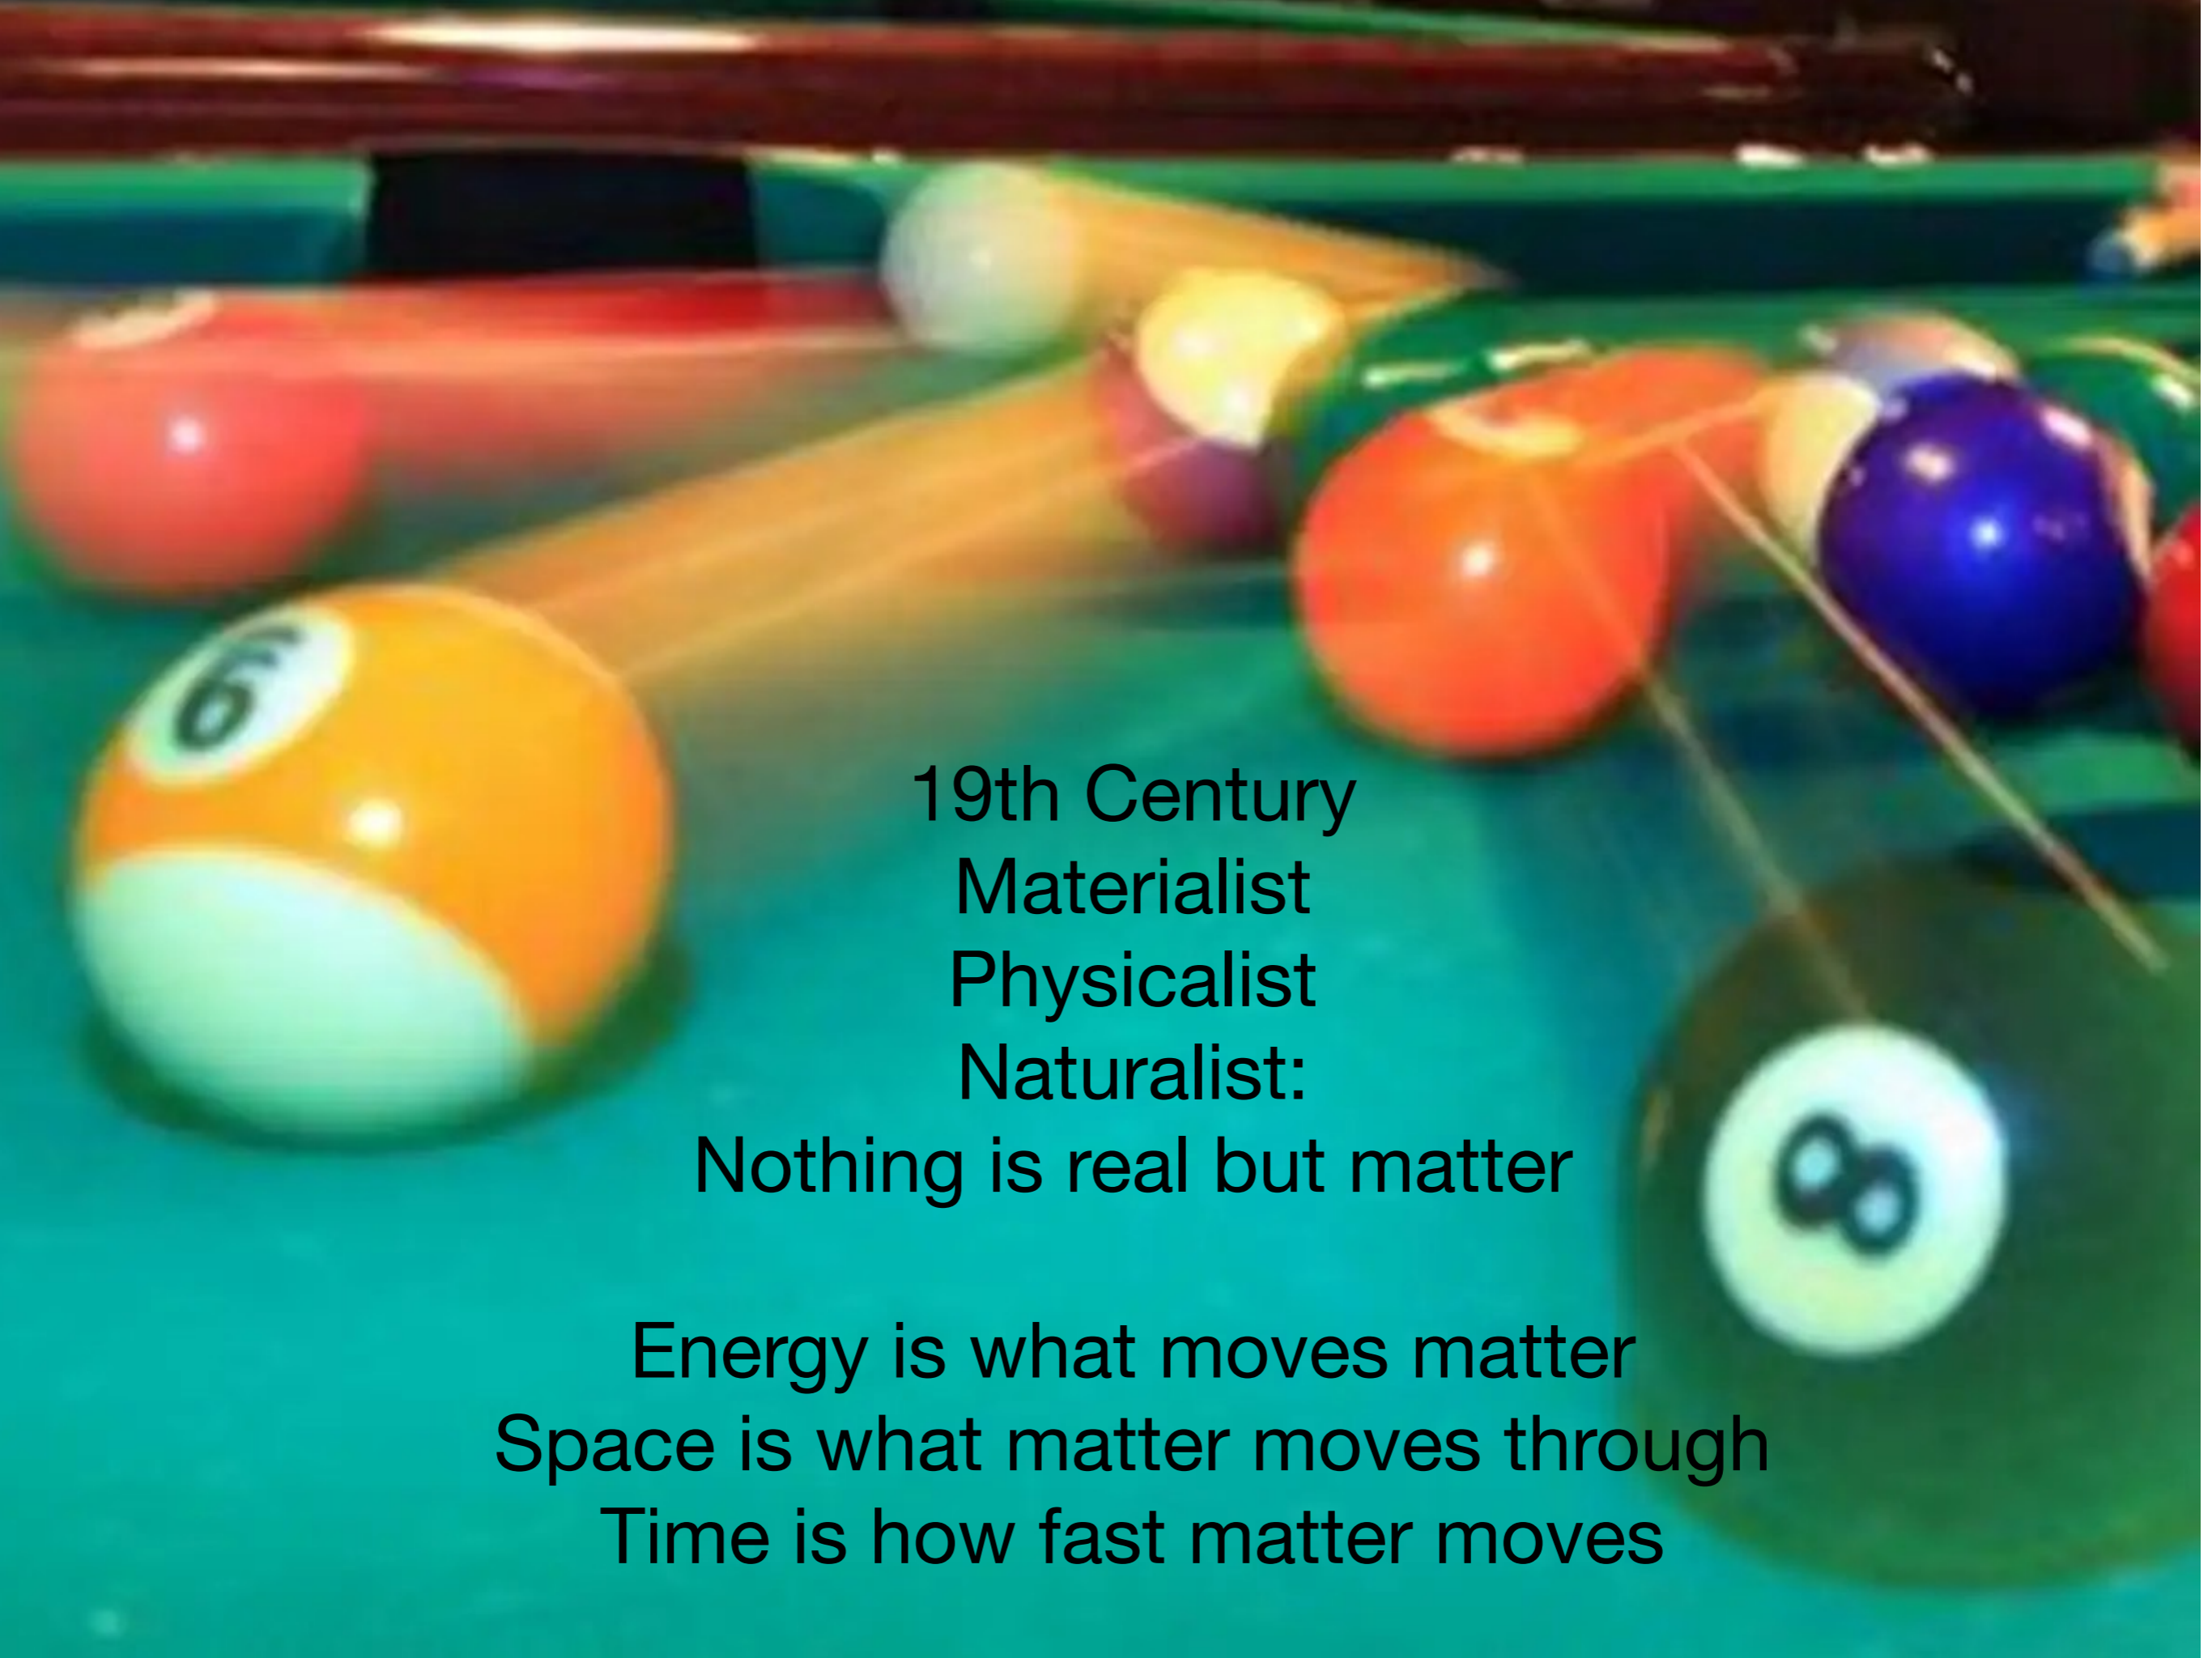

The cosmos is all that is, or ever was, or ever will be.

Carl Sagan

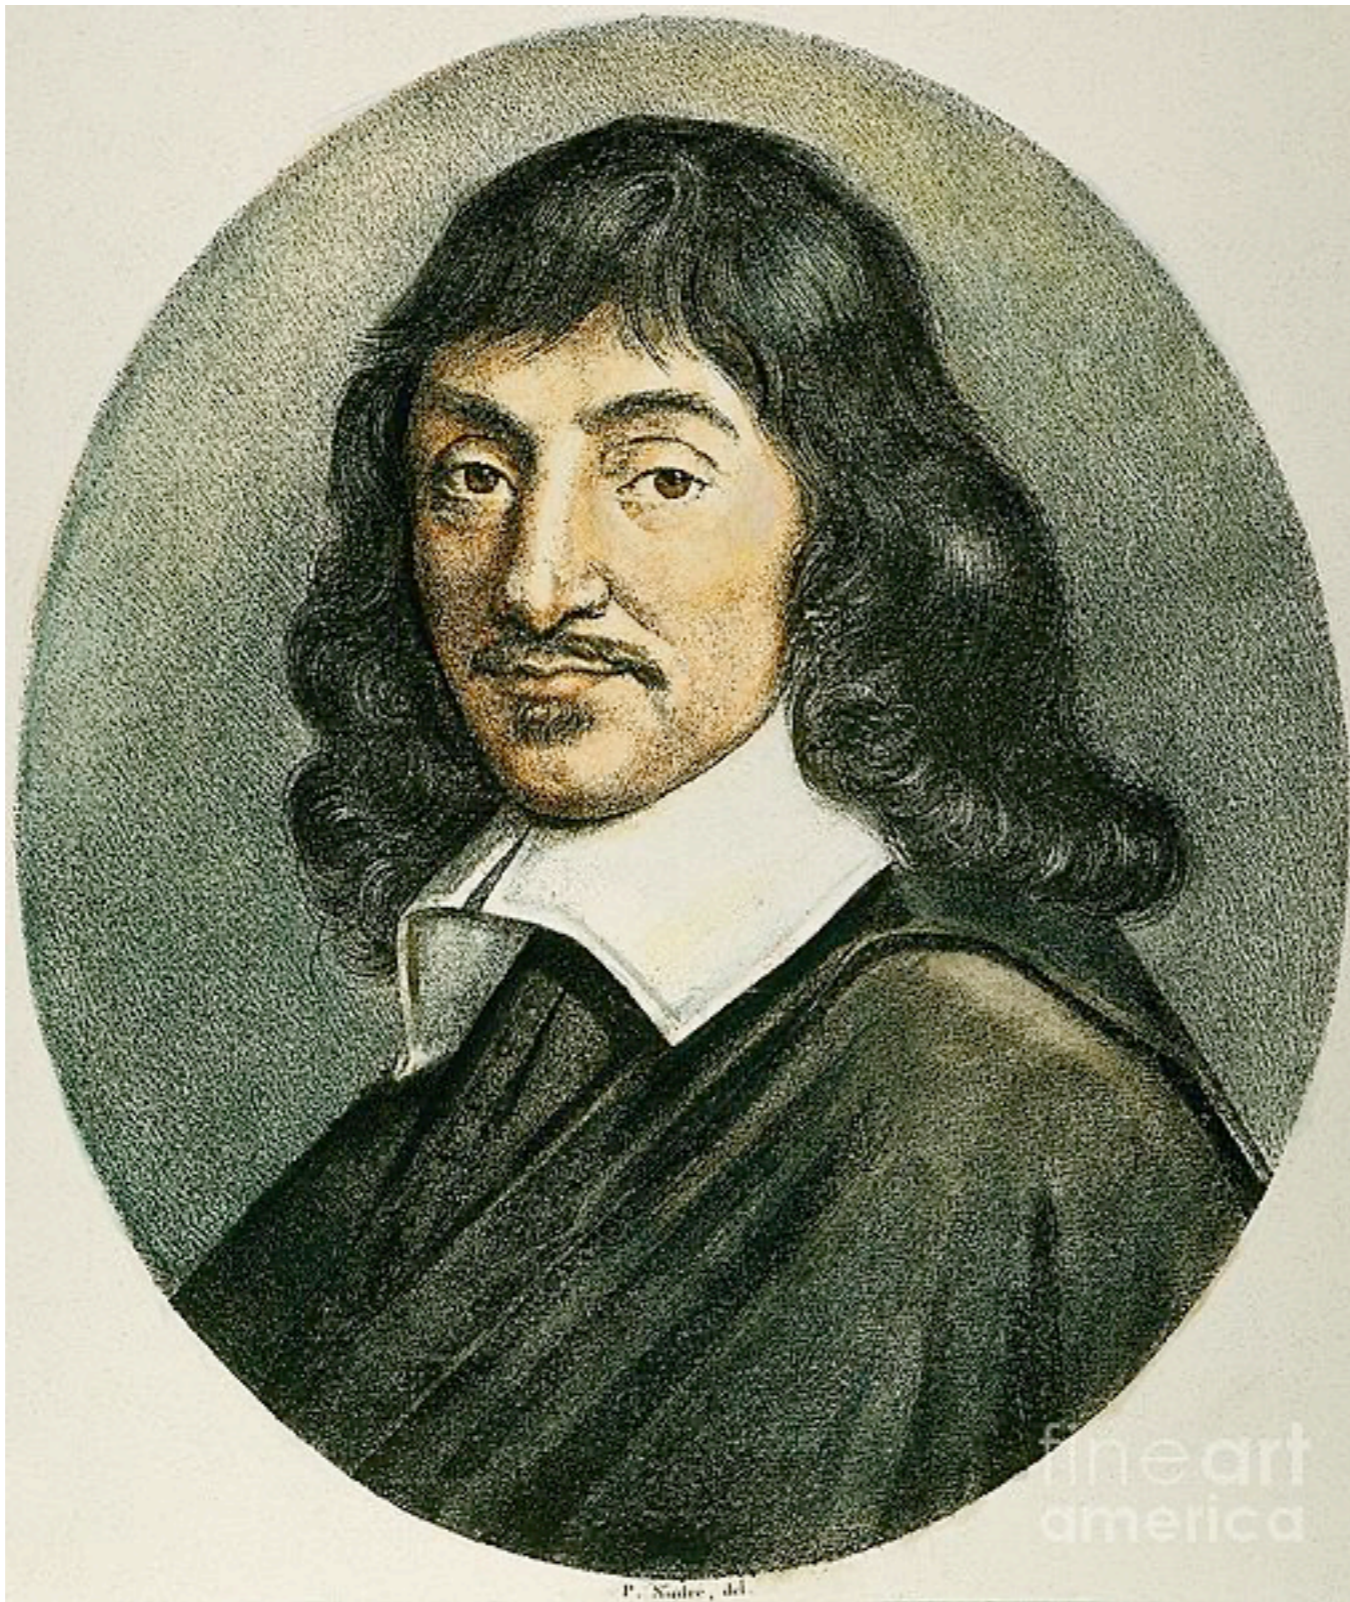

19th Century
Materialist
Physicalist Naturalist:

Nothing is real but matter

Energy is what moves matter Space is what matter moves through Time is how fast matter moves

René Descartes
1596-1650

The Mind-Body
Problem:
How can something that is immaterial affect the material universe?

How can the billiard balls
move when nothing hits them?

The immaterial world is an illusion

Richard Dawkins

In a universe of electrons and selfish genes, blind physical forces and genetic replication, ... there is, at bottom, no design, no purpose, no evil, no good, nothing but pitiless indifference.”

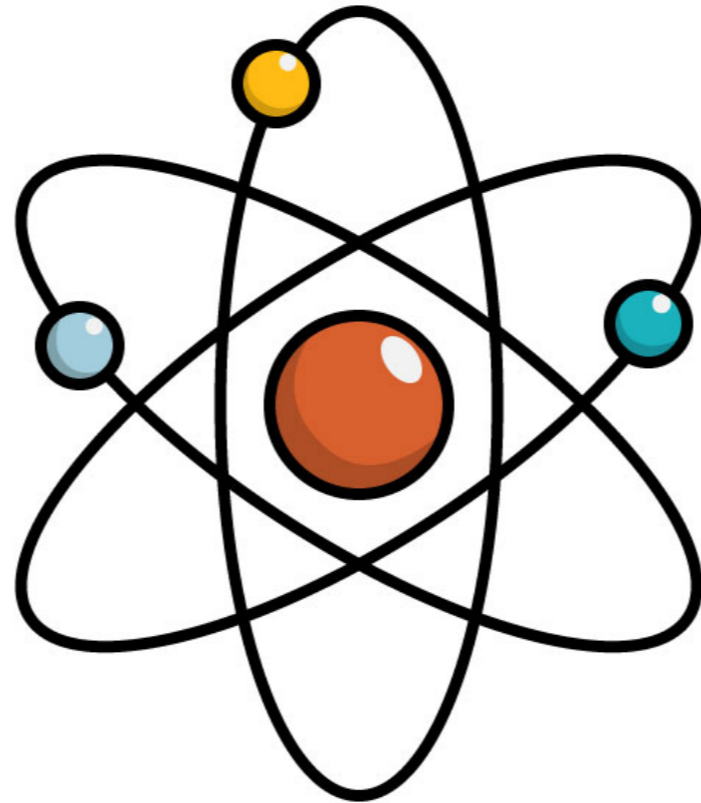

A close-up photograph of a pool table with a green felt top. Several billiard balls are scattered across the table, including a yellow and white striped ball with the number 6, a red ball, a blue ball, and a white ball with the number 8. A wooden cue stick is positioned diagonally across the frame, pointing towards the right. The background is slightly blurred, showing the wooden rails of the pool table.

The Old Science says
nothing immaterial exists.
There is no God. There are no spirits, no ghosts, no angels, no demons, and no life after death. Your mind is an illusion and your life is a chemical reaction.
